WORKING WITH VOICES

A Two day workshop with Ron Coleman & Karen Taylor
www.workingto_recovery.co.uk

Hearing voices is one of the most common experiences that people diagnosed with a psychotic illness have. Research has shown that many people continue to hear voices even after prolonged use of medication and this has meant that many voice hearers do not get relief from their experiences. The consequence of this is that many people live lives that are low in quality & high in distress. This two-day training-course has been developed for Key workers & Voice hearers to work together & learn how to use the 'Working with Voices' workbook.

All participants of the training will have:

- An in depth understanding of hearing voices
- Able to teach and develop coping strategies
- Be able to voice profile
- Developed confidence, awareness and skills in working with voices
- Developed a toolkit for working with voices
- The confidence and skills to use the voices workbook

Professionals:

- A better relationship when working with voice hearers
- Seen a voice hearing group in action
- Faced their own fears about using this approach
- The understanding to work within the belief systems of the voice hearer

Voice Hearers: A profound difference in the relationship with their voices to aid in their path to wellness.

n.b We request strict confidentiality for voice hearers.

Ron Coleman and Karen Taylor are world renowned experts on voices & recovery. They provide trainings worldwide, have written books and designed successful programs based on their research and experience.
